Mr. Reott,

Reviewing your e-mail and the attachment from Dan Caplice regarding the cleaning of the south and northwest tanks and the process pit, I concur with Mr. Caplice that the residual levels are within an acceptable range, and that the south tank can be dismantled for sale.

12067 Wipe Test 12067 Certificate of Letter (8-26-0... Cleaning ...

Brad - As we discussed last week, I have attached the data from the wipe tests that USEPA requested and an explanatory letter from K-Plus. While there are no controlling standards for this test in this context, given the power washing, the results are consistent with the first two tanks and concrete basin as being "clean". We have a buyer for the South tank (which had the lowest levels) and would like to complete that sale as soon as possible. The buyer will dismantle and remove the South tank which also should prevent any future accumulation of significant amounts of storm water which could occur if the South tank remains in place.

Because any delay could cost us this buyer, we would appreciate hearing from you that USEPA has no objection to the planned disposition of the South tank.

Thanks, Ray Reott

Dear David,

Attached is a Certificate of Cleaning for the two tanks and the concrete basin at the above-referenced site. Following the cleaning, the USEPA requested that we collect wipe samples from each of these structures and test them for cadmium and lead which were the predominant contaminants identified by the Agency during prior testing of sediment and sludge at the site. The results of that testing are attached.

In the south tank, the results of the testing showed that residual levels of both cadmium and lead are well within acceptable ranges. Specifically, the lead levels in the 3 samples collected from the south tank ranged from 160 to 300 ug/ft² while the cadmium levels ranged from 5.6 to 12 ug/ft². In the concrete basin, lead levels ranged from 780 to 2,400 ug/ft² while cadmium levels ranged from 22 to 140 ug/ft². Finally, levels in the Northwest tank ranged from 1,700 to 1,900 ug/ft² for lead and from 32 to 120 ug/ft² for cadmium.

While there are no specific cadmium standards for hard surfaces, the typical levels found in soil in Illinois are 600 ug/kg. Similarly, there are no remediation objectives for lead on hard surfaces in industrial settings, however, there are standards available for lead on surfaces of residential settings. The current HUD standard for residential settings is 50 ppm.

A review of the results indicates that the northwest and northeast tanks were likely painted with lead based paint while the paint on the south tank did not contain elevated lead levels. The elevated levels found in the concrete basin are consistent with what would be found on other porous surfaces at the facility.

R. Lavin Creditors Committee
c/o Mr. David Abrams

Again, a review of the results and a comparison to data that is available regarding exposure standards for lead and cadmium confirms that the residual levels at this site are within an acceptable range.

If you have any questions concerning this matter, please call me.

Sincerely,
K-PLUS ENVIRONMENTAL
